2026 Assessment Rates by Rate Group 13

Purpose of this document

This guide lists the 2026 assessment rates for every $100 of gross payroll. The 2026 Maximum Assessable Earnings Level is $89,300.

How rate groups are determined

The Workers Compensation Board (WCB) classifies employers into industries based on their primary business activity. Then, they further divide the industries into industry groups, based on those business activities.

Industry Groups are assigned to a rate group within their class or sector, based on their historical injury cost experience. Industry groups within the same rate group pay the same assessment rate.

The WCB bases the assessment rate on the cost of claims for the entire group. This way, employers collectively share the costs of claims within their rate group.

Some employers participate in the Experience Rating Program and their rate may differ from those in this book. For more information about the Experience Rating Program, please visit our website wcb.pe.ca.

How to find your rate

This guide contains two sections: the Industry Index, organized alphabetically, and the Assessment Rates, organized by rate group.

If you do not know your rate group, use the Industry Index. You can find your industry group, rate group, and the page number for your rate in the Assessment Rates section. Use the Assessment Rates section to find the assessment rate for your rate group. The Assessment Rates section also lists the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) code for your industry.

The WCB will provide notification of individual assessment rates to all employers.
